Ancient Mexico-Interesting Dis coveries-Egyptian Statuary.

By the Siglo we learn there have bee discoveries among the exhumations near St. Andres Tuxtes, in the State of Vers Cruz, of several ancient statues, of wha race the Siglo does not indicate, but it this connection we will observe that upon a former occasion there were discovered several statues of a period, lith-ographic representations of two of which have been forwarded to a gentle-

It appears from the discoveries that the Mexican portion, of the American continent was in former periods peopled by two different and distinct races; that in the West the Aztee or Indic, and in the East, on the Gulf Coast, the Coptic. It is known that the Aztees were two or three centuries in their migrations cast-ward until their arrival at Chapultepec. No living evidences of the Egyptian race exists, but overwhelming proofs that such a race did exist at a former period in the regions of the Gulf. These are to be found in the ruins, hieroglyphics, statuary, pottery and utensils. But their period must have been beforethat of the Aztecs, or the scattered colonies of the Egyptians were overwhelmned by the forerunning tribes which preceded the imperial and civilized portion of the migrating race.

This is an interesting question. Anoth er is how the Egyptians reached the coast of Mexico; whether in their own ships or those of the Phænicians, the most adventurous navigators of their period, and who were the only race that ventur-ed but of the straits of Gibraltar during that period .- Journal de Mexicana.

Caribe, or Cannibal-Fish.

But what is dreaded even more than the jaws of the crocodile, the coils of the anaconda, or the powerful battery of the electrical cel, is the caribe, or canni-bal-fish, which literally swarms the rivers of the Llanos, rendering it exceedingly dangerous to enter the water. The ferocity of this bold and ravenous little pest is terrible; and at the scent of blood they are attracted in such myriads, that the largest animal will quickly be consumed by them. The largest caribe is four or five inches in length, with fierce eyes, large mouth, and teeth so exceedingly sharp as to be able to sever ordinary hooks as if they were but slender threads. The Waraun Indians, who lubabit the submerced lands ans, who inhabit the submerged lands at the mouth of the Orinoco, and live in trees, without even a spot of ground in which to deposit their mortal remains, avail themselves of the ravenous procliv-ities of the caribe-fish to dispose of the flesh of their deceased relatives. For this purpose they tie the corps with a strong rope, and plunge it into the wa-ter, securing the other end of the rope to one of the pillars upon which their dwellings rest; in less than twenty-four hours the skeleton is handed out four hours the skeleton is handed out of the water perfectly clean, for the teeth of the caribe have stripped it of flesh, arteries, tendons, etc. Now all that the mourners have to do is, to separate the bones, which they arrange with much care and nicety in baskets made for the purpose, gaudily ornamented with beads of various colors; and so well have they calculated beforehand the space flue bones will occupy in the funeral urn, that the skull, tightly adjusted against the same and to the skull, tightly adjusted against the skull, tightly the funeral urn, that the skull, tightly adjusted against the sides of the basket at the top, comes to be the lid of it .- Myers' Life and Nature.

WALTHAM

The extensive use of these watches for the last oftern years by Railway Conductors, Engineers and Expressmen, the most exacting of watch-wearers, has thoroughly demonstrated the strength, steadi-Watch. To satisfy that class in all these respects, is to decide the question as to the real value of these time-keepers.

More than 500,000 of these watches are now man in this city, and which we have seen. One is Ethiopian, and the other ancient Egyptian or Coptic.

These discoveries in the East with re-lien futile, and those who buy any other watch merely pay from 25 to 80 per cent, more for their watches than is necessary.

These time-pieces combine every improvement that a long experience has preved of real pratical use. Having had the refusal of nearly every lavention in watch-making originating in this country or in Europe, only those were finally adopted which sovere testing by the most skilfull artisans in our works, and long use on the part of the public, demnstrated to be e-sential to correct time-keeping. Among the many improvements we would partie

The invention and use of a center-pinion of pecu iar construction, to prevent damage to the train by the breakage of main-springs, is original with the American Watch Company, who, having had the refusal of all other contrivances, a lopted Fogg' patent pinion as being the best and faultiess. Hardened and tempered hair-springs, now uni versally admitted by watchmakers to be the best, tre used in all grades of Waltham Watches.

All Waitham Watches have dust-proof caps, proceing the movement from dust, and lessening the necessity of frequent cleaning necessary in other watches.

Our new patent stem-winder, or keyless watch, is aiready a decided success, and a great improvement on any stem-winding watch in fno American market, and by far the cheapest watch of its quality now offered to the public. To those diving in portions of the United States where watchmakers do not abound, watches with the above mentioned improvements which tend to ensure accuracy, cleaniness, durability and convenience, must prove invaluable.

The Senate of Kentucky has repudia-tel the claims of the Union soldiers of that State who culisted and served dur-ing the war. The State refusest to rec-ognize their claims as valid, although they have been audited by the Quarternaster General, and pronounced by him just and due. One can see from this action of the Democratic party what value to attach to the usual buncombe of Democratic State Conventions in flattering the Union soldiers with cheap resolutions. When it comes to paying claims which are acknowledged to be just and due, the Democracy prove tru to their past record as repudiators.

A GREEN HAND.—A linendraper recently hired a new shopman, and of course initiated him at once into the mystery of the "trade mark."
